Last year, COVER built 14 accessibility ramps and 14 roofs and completed 31 smaller repair projects with the help of over 230 volunteers.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is COVER Home Repair?

Since 1998, COVER has been fostering hope and building community in the Upper Valley by leading volunteers to complete urgently needed repairs. Our staff consists of experienced carpenters who are skilled at teaching volunteers from different walks of life. By making it possible for people to remain in their homes, rather than being disrupted by having to relocate to other housing – if they can find it – COVER heads off the destabilizing effects that would otherwise ripple through families, friends, caregivers, and communities. In cases where other housing is not available, COVER is literally preventing homelessness.

Who qualifies for COVER's program?

To qualify, homeowners must income-qualify. The project also must be urgent, volunteer-friendly, within 45 minutes of COVER, and involve the homeowner to the extent that they are able. Many of our homeowners are elderly who are aging-in-place or living with disabilities.

What types of repairs does COVER do?

In a typical non-pandemic year, COVER repairs 70+ homes in the Upper Valley for little to no cost to the homeowner. On average, about 50% of these projects are ramps and roofs. The other half are smaller repairs – installing fall-prevention measures such as grab bars and railings, and repairing flooring or decking – to make a home safer and more livable. During the winter, COVER's weatherization program air-seals a home against cold air drafts to save heating fuel and make homes warmer. COVER also installs insulated skirting around mobile homes.

How is COVER funded?

Funding comes primarily from the COVER Store, private foundations, and contributions from individuals, businesses, religious, and civic organizations. We also receive some support from local town budgets.

COVER Home Repair is a non-profit 501(c)(3).
